Volume XXX

Foreword

The SCROLL staff feels particularly fortunate in having the privilege of editing this yearbook of nineteen fifty. In conformity with the Holy Year we wish to keep before you, by means of the carefully chosen theme, the analogy between the progress and activities of our scholastic year and the celebrations and ceremonies of the liturgical Holy Year, calling all pilgrims to Rome. Just as the Holy Year began with the opening of the Holy Door in St. Peter's, so our school year was initiated with the swinging of the big, oaken door at St. Ursula Academy, and the Mass of the Holy Ghost. Throughout the year, in accordance with the spirit of the occasion, our teachers tirelessly sought to give us the educational, cultural, and spiritual advantages which will lead us to the door of Wisdom and Truth.

Great care has been taken to keep our book in the spirit of the Holy Year by including symbolic designs as reminders of our purpose. In all sincerity, and with a touch of honest pride in the work of our hands, we take great pleasure in presenting to you, dear readers, this thirtieth volume — the SCROLL of nineteen fifty.

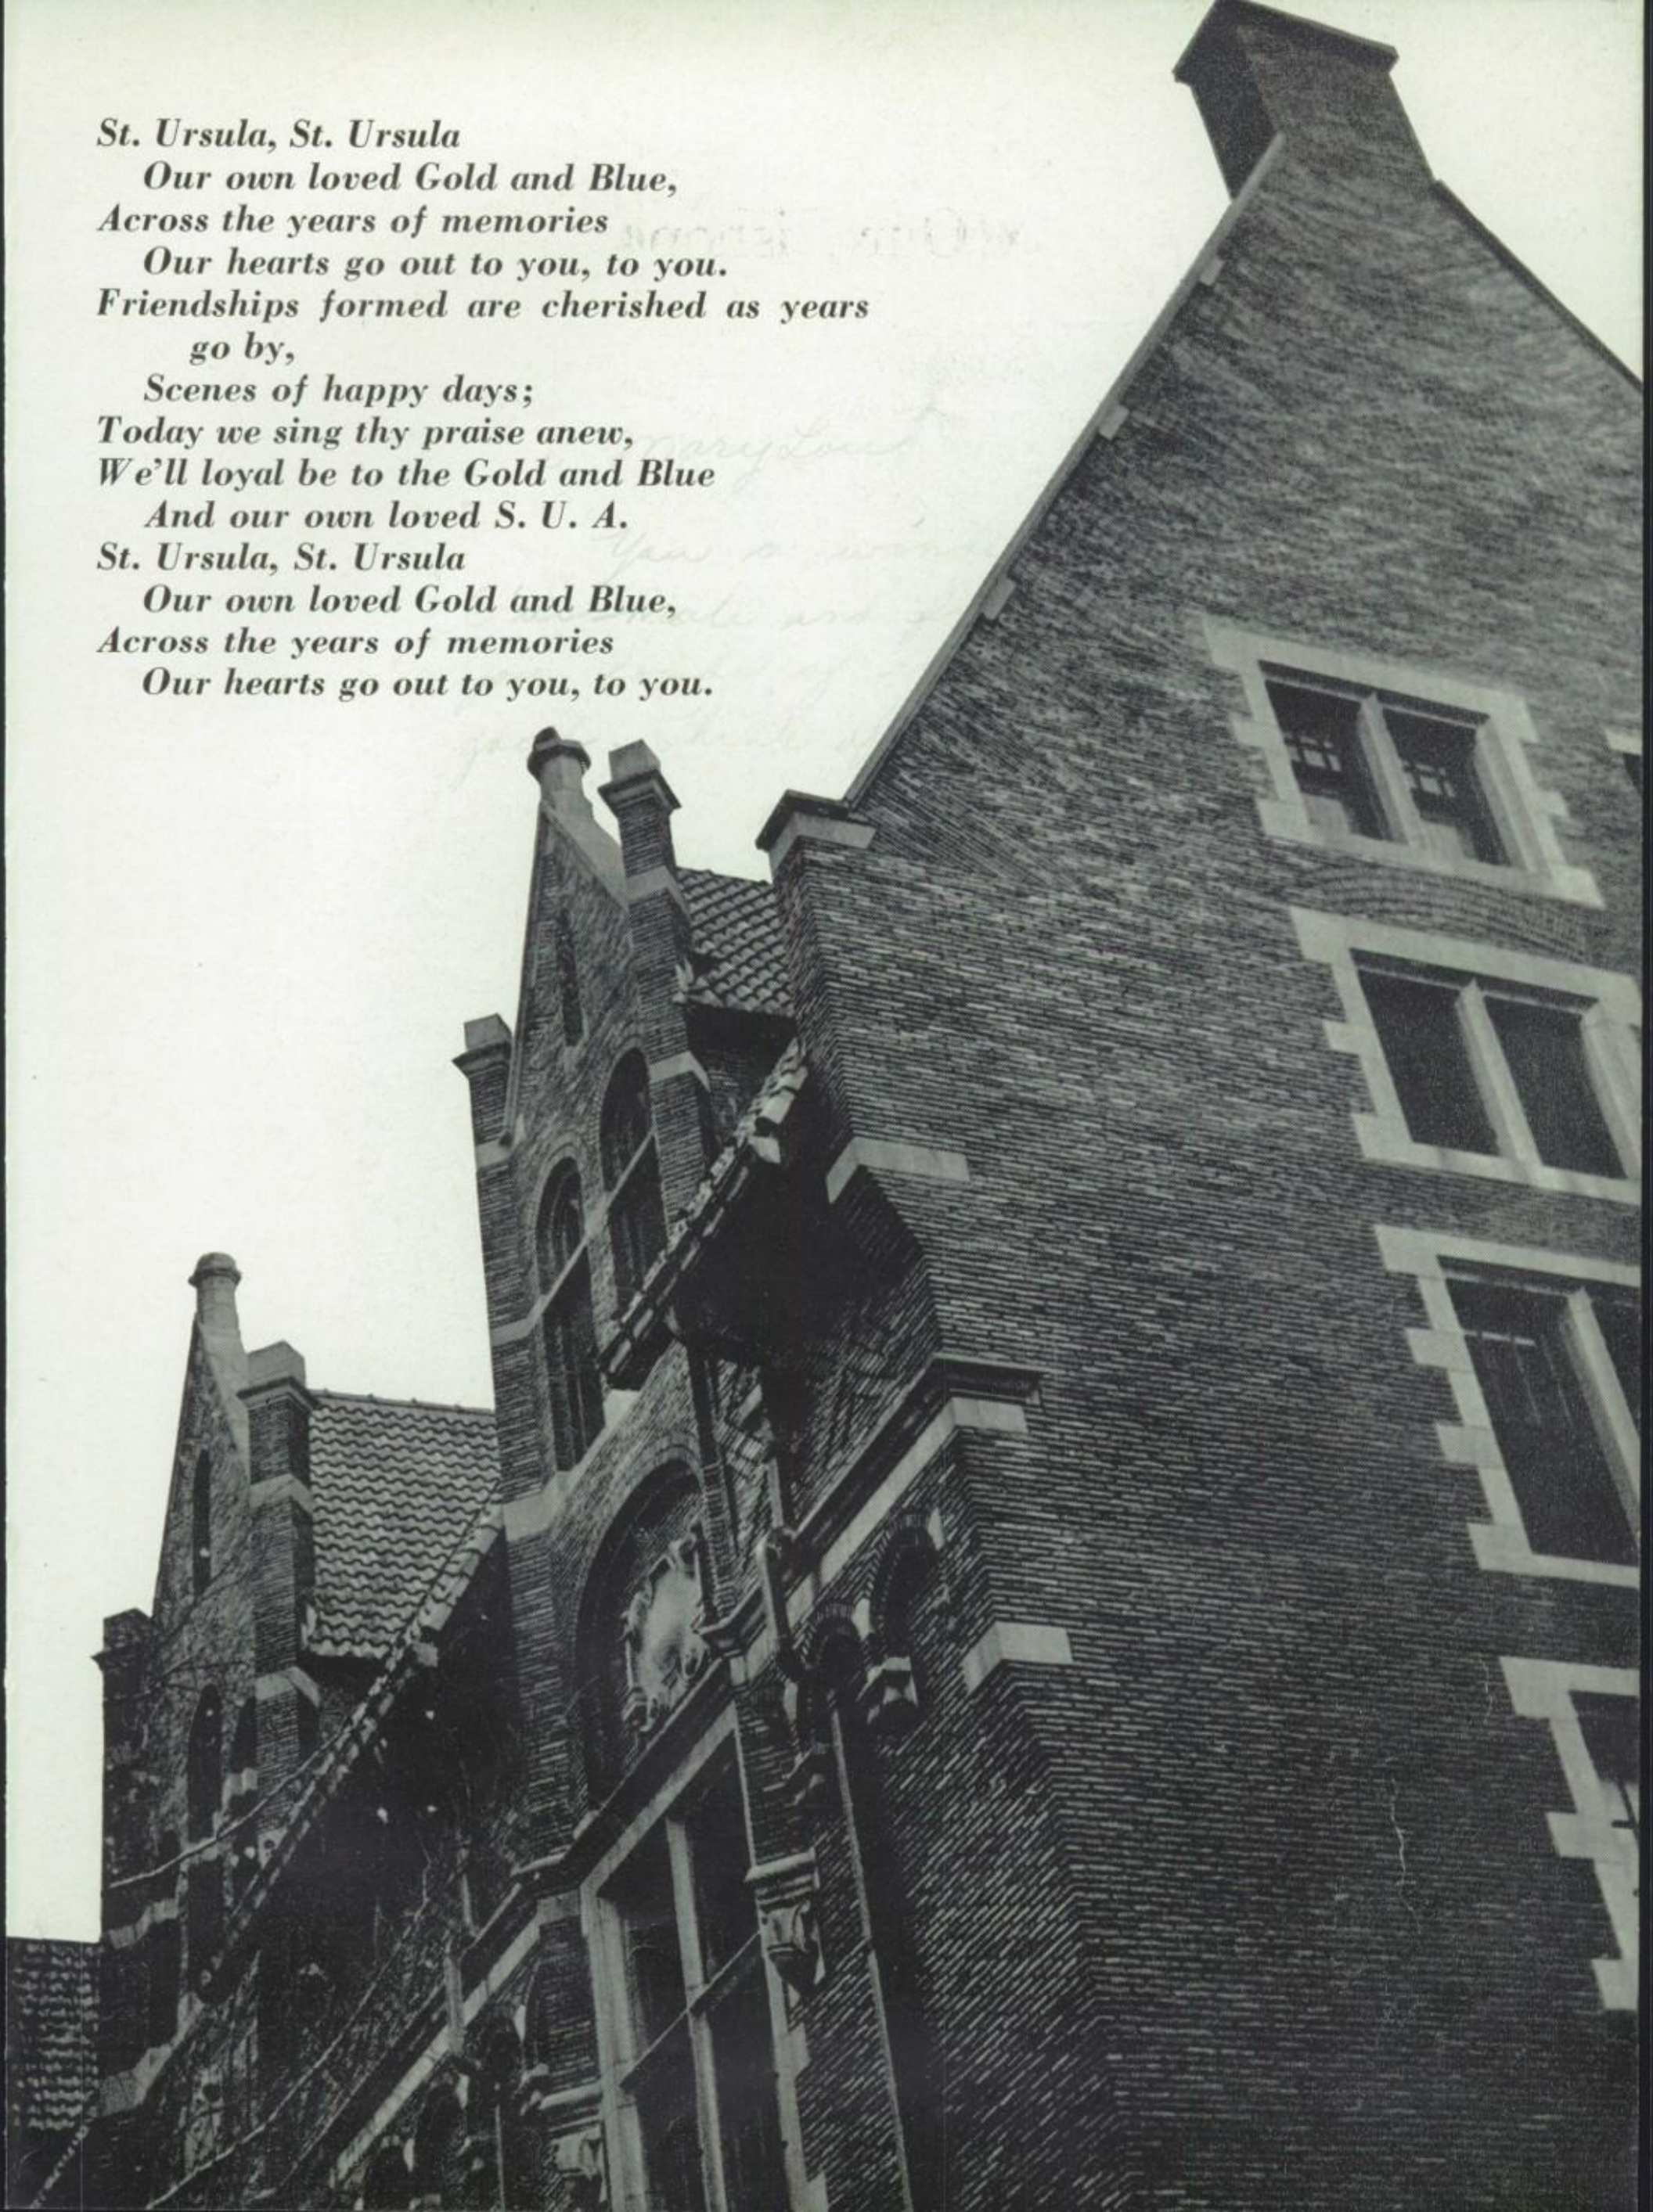
Dedication

19 HOLY YEAR 50

Give us peace in our day! This is the heartfelt supplication of Our Holy Father in this, the twenty-fifth Holy Year of nineteen fifty. Now more than ever before, the Sovereign Pontiff urges us to pray for peace—peace of soul for families, for our country, and peace for all nations. During his entire reign, His Holiness has witnessed every kind of moral, social, and spiritual failure, but because of his paternal love for all sinners, he has, as it were, set aside this year as a spiritual antidote, a time of the Great Return and the Great Pardon. In this year we are given the key to the prayer gates of heaven from which God's graces come to us. It is to him, the Vicar of Christ on earth, Servant of the Servants of God, that we dedicate this nineteen fifty volume of the Scroll!

St. Ursula, St. Ursula
Our own loved Gold and Blue,
Across the years of memories
Our hearts go out to you, to you.
Friendships formed are cherished as years go by,
Scenes of happy days;
Today we sing thy praise anew,
We'll loyal be to the Gold and Blue
And our own loved S. U. A.
St. Ursula, St. Ursula
Our own loved Gold and Blue,
Across the years of memories
Our hearts go out to you, to you.



Our Bishop

MOST REVEREND KARL J. ALTER, D.D.

The Most Reverend Bishop's interest in Catholic education of youth is clearly evident each year when he presides at the series of commencement exercises held in Toledo and in other parts of the diocese. Every Ursuline senior feels it a unique privilege to receive her diploma from the Bishop.

This past year was particularly notable for the Bishop, for during it he visited Rome to make a complete report to the Holy See on the spiritual and material state of his diocese. These visits are called in the language of the Church, "ad limina apostolorum," that is, "to the threshhold of the Apostles."

While in Rome, his Excellency made a pilgrimage to the tombs of St. Peter and St. Paul, a tradition dating back to the earliest ages of the Church, when the first bishops thus fulfilled the law. On the return trip, the Bishop stopped at the Shrine of Our Lady of Fatima, and toured Germany and other war-torn countries.

Our Chaplain

May Our Blessed Mother Mary always keep you in her care

Father King O.M.I.

REVEREND PHILIP KING, O.M.I.

From the Oblate Scholasticate in Washington, D. C., to St. Ursula's has come Father King, our spiritual director and instructor in Christian Doctrine. Ordained to the priesthood a year ago, Father considers the privilege of teaching religion a sacred assignment. He is especially devoted to the Mother of God through his consecration as an Oblate of Mary Immaculate.

Exercising his teaching and priestly functions, Father King has endeavored to cultivate in every girl, through the year's concentration on that conpendium of Catholic truth, the Apostles' Creed, strong convictions. We are indebted to him not only for a greater knowledge of our religion but also for an increased ability to explain it to those who are seeking the truth, as found in the One Holy Catholic Apostolic Church.

Our Principal

Sister M. Blanche, Carmen Skeels, Mary Ann Green

Association with the Academy for Sister Mary Blanche, our principal, goes back many years. As an alumna, mistress in the boarding school, as teacher of Latin, French and mathematics, and as directress for the past six years, Sister has given unstintingly of her time and enthusiasm to the cause of Catholic education in our local sphere of activity.

Our Ursuline teachers, as daughters of St. Angela Merici, are well qualified to lead youthful souls to Christ through the educational principles laid down by the Saint of Brescia in her Counsels governing the training of young girls. No more positive proof of her purpose in founding the Ursuline Order can be furnished than that found in St. Angela's own words: "For your part, recalling what your institute has done heretofore, do you apply yourselves still more ardently to your task, in forming the minds and hearts of young girls so as to make them one day mothers of families that are truly worthy of their Christian profession."

The Ursuline ideal is today, as it was in the sixteenth century, to train teachers and conduct schools that neglect no branch of useful knowledge while they surround pupils with the safeguards and helps of religion that Christ's truth and grace may be ingrained as the firm and guiding principles of life.

The Junior Class

One by one, as the months spent themselves, resolution crystallized into fulfillment. The "Chronicle" drive was given excellent support, as were the "Ursuline" and "Scroll" subscription drives, their mission carnival put the finishing touch par excellence to that project. Twenty of their number sang in the A Cappella chorus.

Then came that magic day when the class rings arrived, making the third-year girls authentic upperclassmen. Shouts of glee were heard all over the school as the Juniors proudly displayed the Ursuline coat-of-arms. The Junior-Senior Prom, April tenth, a gala and long remembered affair, was a fitting climax to a most successful year.

built through honest endeavor and hard work, a thriving, working democracy. This little nation was divided into two provinces: State A and State B. Their entire population made up the representative body and they were governed by a President, Vice-president, Secretary, and Treasurer. Through a free and general election, the following went into office: Carol Anderson, president; Helen Shondell, vice-president; Betty Fitz, treasurer; and Rosemary Schindler, secretary.

They honored their patroness, Saint Ursula, to whom their country is dedicated, by serving a delicious breakfast to surrounding nations inhabited by the Freshmen, Juniors, and Seniors. Their foreign relief program was concentrated on the Catholic Missions, for whom they annually raised large sums of money by producing extravaganzas, movies, and other entertainment. This year they presented a musicale entitled, "The Nifty Shoppe," which was well named.

Their good neighbor policy was demonstrated by a ceremony known as Initiation, whereby they instructed their neighboring country of Freshmen in the mysteries of their own world affairs. The "Chronicle" drive, an important event in which all states competed, was a unanimous victory for the Sophomore State when they more than doubled their quota of subscriptions. And when the entire nation gathered in the Congressional Hall to receive their certificates of merit, the Sophomore Senators were great in number and high on the list.

The Freshmen

brought seventy new faces to St. Ursula's this year. These energetic girls were ready to take over the Freshman class. They wasted no time in electing their Mayor, Agnes Stein, and councilmen: Marilyn Floyd, Marcia Gerken, and Marilyn O'Brien.

Their first big council meeting was held in Urban Hall, where they were guests of the Sophomores on St. Ursula's Day. At this meeting they were enrolled in the Student League, and the Apostleship of Prayer. The "Freshies" found themselves out on top in the "Sacred Heart Messenger" drive, which incidentally is the first big all-school drive of the year.

These enthusiastic girls wouldn't stop since they went right into another council meeting to plan their Mission project. Special representatives selected to head this affair were Marcia Gerken, Norene Hartmann, Dian Tillman, and Patricia O'Hara. This project consisted of a movie, and was topped off with refreshments in Urban Hall.

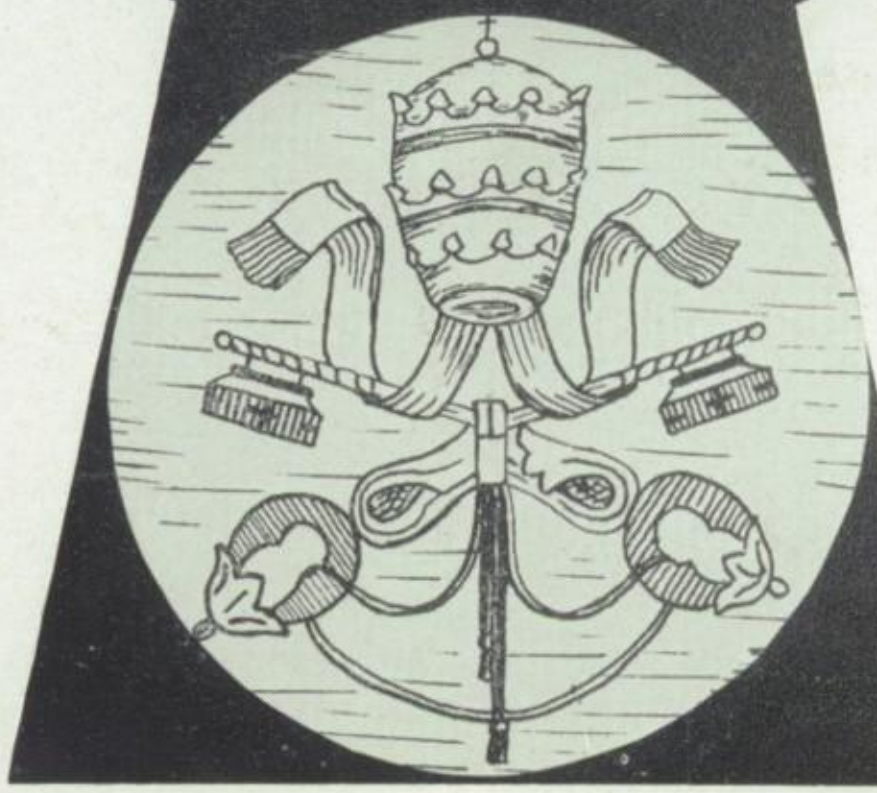
September

brought back once more the opening days of school which proved a radical change from our restorative vacation. Once again we must conform to rules and concentrate on study. The upperclassmen returned to renew acquaintances, while the freshmen were out to make new friends. The event of the month, with Father King as celebrant, was the Mass consecrating the new school year to the Holy Ghost, Who guided and directed all our ventures.

Autumn of Holy Year



Key to Great Pardon

• Uniform Conscious

During the first few days, no exact schedule was maintained. We were permitted to wear casual dresses, which privilege seemed heaven-sent at the time, but after having reached the limitations of our wardrobes, we were grateful to return to the ever-attractive uniform. Teachers went light on homework for a few nights so that we could acquaint ourselves with the new schedule and gradually get back into the harness.

The enrollment, remaining constant, this year was near the two hundred and seventy mark, including fifty-four seniors, sixty-seven juniors, seventy-six sophomores, and sixty-nine freshmen. The girls came from thirty parishes of the city and suburbs.

For the last three years or more the girls had been begging Sister Mary Blanche to install a coke machine in the gym. But alack and alas! Last year a machine was installed in the Tea House. Again we began our campaign. This year, to the joy of the whole school, we had one right in the gym. We couldn't have asked for a more wonderful surprise on our return to school.

Saint Ursula's Day,

October twenty-first, students congregate to honor the school's patroness and to hold the semi-annual Student League meeting, the second being held on the Feast of the Foundress of the Ursuline Order, St. Angela, May thirty-first. At both meetings the Senior Class officers preside. After the President admits the Freshmen into the League, representatives of the various spiritual and social organizations outline events which will take place during the school year. Each, in her interesting and clever speech, asks the cooperation of all in the activities of the organization she represents.

This year reports were given by: Carol Warnement, Apostleship of Prayer; Hildegard Keil, Missions; Monica Dominique, Eucharistic; Corrine Hoffman, Our Lady's; Nancy Bodette, Legion of Mary; Barbara Schaedel, "Scroll" and "Ursuline"; Betty Beins, Glee Club; Rita Stein, Dramatics; Jeanne Garvin, Red Cross; and Carol Anderson, Athletics.

The Sophomore Class

was in charge of preparations for the Mass and General Communion on St. Ursula's Day, in October. Committees were appointed early in the school year and the second-year girls literally rolled up their sleeves to "serve" the student guests in Urban Hall.

Highlighting the decoration theme as a background was a life-size picture of our beloved St. Ursula. Throughout the flower-bedecked hall, tea tables were arranged for foursomes, with blue and gold pennants in marshmallow bases as favors. The pennants, representing the victorious banner of the princess Ursula, were created exclusively by the girls.

To keep the spirit of the times, the Dramatics Class presented a playlet, "Ursula of Brittany," a portrayal of the life of the saint.

A Mission Dance

was sponsored by the Seniors in November. Serving at the coke table are Ann Wasserman, Ann Martin, Mary Catherine Simons, Corrine Hoffman, and Mary Stapleton.

The Legion of Mary

members were asked to help entertain with apples, marshmallows, doughnuts and cider at a city-wide Hallowe'en party for children, at the Catholic Club. There were plenty of witches, black cats, and pumpkins to go around, we were told. The girls are Mary Lu Lutz, Joan Burkhardt, Dolores Crofoot, Margot Boaden and Janet Burkhardt.

The Junior Skit

presented this year was an original play called "Book to Book," in which a girl's school books proved to her that Christian missionaries have affected the world and everything in Mission leaders in charge of the affair were Helen Ankenbrandt, Theresa Makley, Ann Martin and Patricia Swindeman.

Mission Representatives from all the homerooms are pictured here as they prepared for the annual Christmas sale of seals and cards. This activity is among the most successful, as the girls campaign to put the idea of Christ back into Christmas and encourage the sale of religious articles as gifts.

The Apostleship of Prayer

Committee this year was composed of the following: Mary Jo Koudelka, Mary Wilhelm, Mary Parker, Mary A. Jarzynski, Patricia Lynch, Anna M. Hrycyk, Helen Shondell, Mary Stapleton, Nora Sheehan. Seated: Carol Warnement, Ann Openlander, Mary Ellen Johnson.

The Eucharistic Committee, consisting of a representative from each homeroom, brings the students closer to Our Lord by encouraging them to receive the Sacraments. The Committee includes Betty Hall, Eileen Dooley, Bonnie Murphy, Joyce Tansey, Angela Piazza. Seated: Mary Blanchard, Coletta Strohmeier, Justine Hill, Nancy Wilhelm.

The Commercial Classes,

Typing, Shorthand, and Bookkeeping, introduce the girls to general business practice. Shorthand and Typing I and II are offered for Juniors and Seniors, and Bookkeeping for the Seniors only. Pictured here are: Patricia Nagle, Joan Ducey, Doris Haupricht, seated; Nora Sheehan, standing.

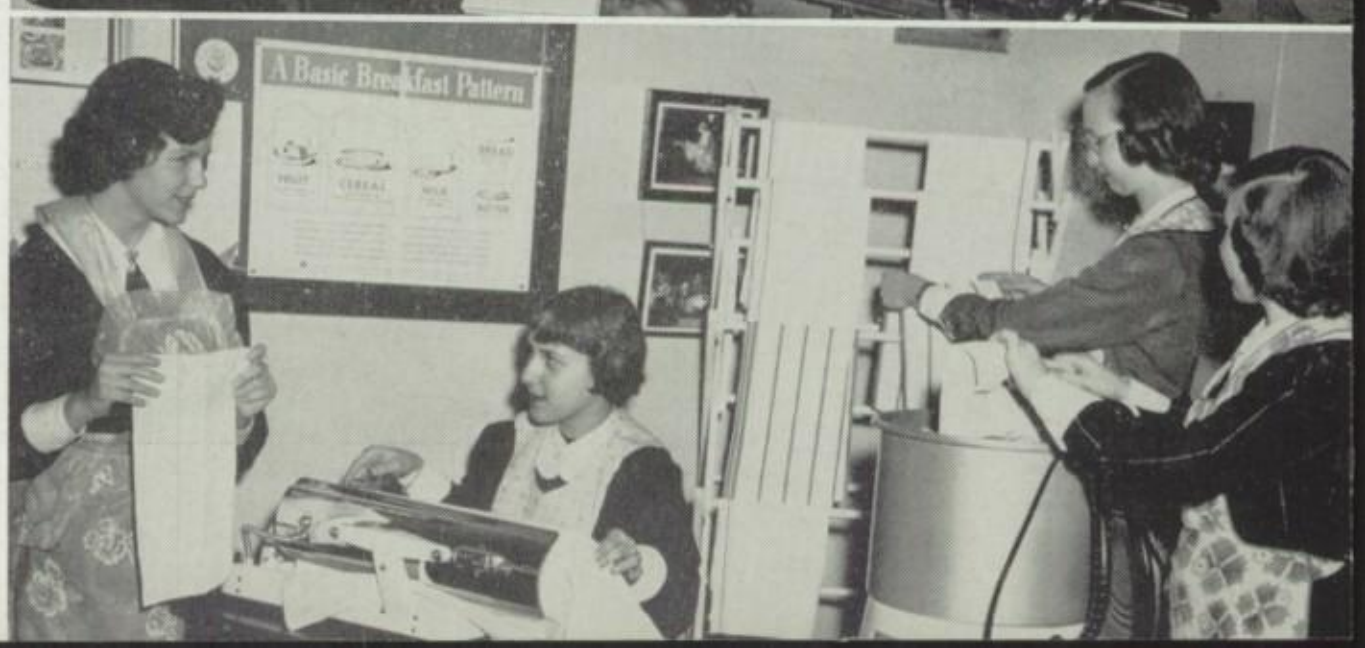
enrolees here are doing the cleaning-up work after one of their delicious dinners. The miniature mangle was a welcome addition this year. The course teaches the basic principles of sewing, and a well-balanced diet for planning a meal. Enrolled in the class are: Teresa Tank, Renee Lupica, Mary C. Hochanadel, Joanne Mayers.



Winter of Holy Year

Key to Interior Joy

The Glee Club,

under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Holland, consisted of two groups, the forty girls who composed the A Cappella Choir, and the remainder of the school in the general chorus.

The A Cappella Choir met twice a week to learn the method of "making beautiful music" and to prepare for several performances at home and abroad. They contributed their talent to various events of the year, among which were the Christmas program, the "Youth on Parade" pageant and the Emma Endres Kountz lecture recital, given before the Altar and Rosary Sodality of Rosary Cathedral and representatives of the fifty Catholic women's organizations of the city.

The general chorus was occupied in the first few months in harmonizing many well-known classical and folk melodies. By the middle of February, the strains of the Salve Regina Mass echoing through the halls were evidence that an old favorite was being revived in preparation for the celebration of the patronal feast of St. Angela Merici, May thirty-first.

The climax of the hard work of the Juniors and Seniors stepped in when Commencement exercises rolled around and the traditional graduation favorites floated up to God and down to the audience.

Mr. Kenneth Holland, director of the Ursuline chorus, came to us in September, after teaching in the public schools at Toledo Libbey, Celina, Ohio, and at Los Angeles, California. Besides his work at the Academy, he is full-time music instructor at Mary Manse College.

Director of the Ken Holland Chorus here in the city, he is also a member of the Toledo Orchestra. From 1947-1949, Mr. Holland was Music Supervisor for the Recreation Division of the City Welfare Department, which conducts concerts at the Amphitheater during the summer months.

Christmas

we concentrated not merely on receiving gifts but also on giving them. Every year, under the auspices of the Mission Committee, each homeroom fills baskets for the needy. Here the girls make ready for distributing their gaily decorated offerings of fruits, vegetables, meat, and staples.

First Snowfall

found Father King joyously trudging his way through the Parkwood entrance on his way to religion class. Come rain or shine, Father never misses an instruction. Mary Louise Hancock and Colleen Bracken greet him, while Joan Finn tests the crystallized vapor for good packing.

The Orchestra

is one of the most popular extracurricular activities offered at Ursuline. Comprising twenty-three active members, its musical talent functions under the capable direction of Sister Jeanne Marie.

With students of all classes eligible for participation, promising freshmen concentrated on their various instruments during the past year with the intention of joining the regular personnel at the beginning of the next term.

Many events during the past year were enhanced by the Orchestra's presence: the graduation exercises of St. Vincent's Hospital and Mercy Hospital, the Senior Class Play, the Christmas program, and in the near future, the Commencement exercises.

A significant achievement connected with the year's activities was the selection of four of their number: Jean Harchuck, Theresa Swartz, Patricia Nelson, and Joan Mink to play in the Northwestern District Ohio Music Education Association festival, held in Findlay, in February. The aforementioned students, together with others, are also enrolled in a special class under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Holland.

Election of officers in September made Margaret Hancock, president; Jean Harchuck, secretary; and Patricia Walsh, treasurer. Rehearsals were held twice weekly, with private instruction throughout the week.

Prospects look bright for next year, since only two players, Betty Beins and Dolores Pallinger, will be lost by graduation.

In Home Ec this year a third course was added, thus making it now possible for a girl to gain a major in the subject. The needs, the interests, and the concerns of youth which center around the home, as well as certain fundamental skills which are indispensable in life situations, were stressed.

Mary Ann Lang, Helen Kovacs, Betty Fitz, Patricia Daly, Michael Daly.

Modern Miss of 1950

was chosen at the annual Style Review, presented by the Home Making Classes. This year the big event took place, January thirtieth. Eighteen girls modeled and competed for the proud title of "Modern Miss." Judges selected sophomore Betty Fitz as the outstanding participant, after considering these points: stage, presence, personality, and carriage.

The guest speaker, alumna Mrs. Harold Anderson, was enthusiastically received. She emphasized the importance of homemaking as a career by which a woman can find happiness and grow in the love of God.

The Sophomore Mission

project in mid-January was a delightful one-act musicale entitled "The Nifty Shoppe." The time of the play was in the spring of 1950, and the action took place in the reception room of an exclusive shop for women.

Jane Bruss was prima donna, and she was supported by the cast as seen in the top picture on this page. Other class members, as pictured below, modeled dresses in the nifty shop and furnished choral singing. Barbara Kaltenbach's numble fingers supplied background and mood music.

The entire student assembly made the project a financial success. Other all-school efforts for the Missions were the Senior dance in October, the Freshman movie and social hour in February, and the Junior carnival in May.

Co-Editor

Marilynne James

The Ursuline staff may justly be proud of the fifth volume of the school newspaper which was written during the past year. Taking their responsibility of editorship seriously, co-editors Barbara Schaedel and Marilynne James have efficiently piloted the journal on its way to new honors.

With a circulation of nearly seven hundred, and with almost a hundred per cent cooperation in subscriptions from student readers, the Ursuline is eligible for honors in the three critical societies to which it belongs: the Catholic School Press Association, the Quill and Scroll, and the National Scholastic Press Association.

Editors and staff personnel were asked to become members of the Junior Press Club sponsored by the Toledo Blade for the purpose of aiding and encouraging young journalists on the high school papers of the city. Two staff members, Mary Ann Graham and Marilynne James, won first and second prizes in a Blade contest in which they reported on an interview with Mayor Michael V. DiSalle.

The Retreat

was held during Lent on the fourteenth, fifteenth, and sixteenth of March, the exercises being conducted by the Reverend J. Aloysius Farrell, of the Paulist Mission Band, Detroit.

Our retreat master left many and deep impressions on our minds regarding the Christian duties of our state of life and the strengthening of our faith to meet the future. Paramount among the conferences was that in which Father spoke of the importance of the practice of charity in our daily lives. Too many otherwise good people, he said, slight charity in their preoccupation with lesser virtues. Charity in our dealings with others will be most marked in our courtesy, "which is the grace of God," and in being kind and thoughtful to others "because they are Christ's."

C.S.M.C. Study Club,

as it is pictured here at the general meeting, was held every other Tuesday. The purpose of the club was to make members familiar with the home and foreign missions. Reports and round-table discussions of current missionary work were employed for that purpose. A leader conducted the meeting and a scribe took roll call and collected the reports. At the completion of the study club course, members were eligible for the Paladin pin.

Religion Classes

in the auditorium, under the instruction of Father King, were given Mondays and Thursdays to the Seniors and Juniors, and Wednesdays and Fridays, to the Sophomores and Freshmen. Other days of the week the girls had religion in their homerooms. Pictured above are the posters made by the Freshmen, depicting the first article of the Creed. This year's course was centered around the Apostles' Creed, the summary of Catholic beliefs.

Languages, both classical and modern, are offered as electives. Latin, which may be studied throughout the four years, is the most popular. Almost all freshmen and sophomores are enrolled in the Latin classes and a good percentage of students continues in the third and fourth years.

Here Patricia Carroll, freshman, is Latin representative at the "United Nations" conference table, with Jean Ann Kubicki, Andrea Raber, and Beatrice Miles, Spanish, French, and German delegates, respectively.

The Library Club was composed of girls who volunteered to help in the library at specified times during the week. In the quiet of this room many reports were written, with the librarian, Sister Genevieve, ever on hand to suggest and direct. Whether it be history, a biography, science, periodical, or novel that was sought, the library very adequately "filled the bill."

The library was especially popular with the Juniors, who practically lived there while they were preparing to write the traditional research essay.

• Point of Decision

"Hurray! that's our team that just scored. Stick to your positions. Don't let them hit that ball. Wow! that last one nearly took me down the alley with it. Bull's eye! First one this year for me."

If you've been wondering where these oddly assorted remarks are leading to, it's time you are enlightened. They all represent some phase of the physical education program that is a part of every Ursuline girl's curriculum.

To begin with, every girl is required two years of gym, but some of the athletes of the school, schedules permitting, develop more strength by completing four years.

The first activity of the year is the volleyball tournament which takes place usually in December or January. All the classes are represented, and the winners are decided by

• Whose Ball?

• Hail! the Champs

process of elimination as are all the other tournaments.

The next game that is learned, and the most popular of them all, is basketball. This sport brings out the best in every class and the tournaments, which are attended most enthusiastically, decide the champions of the school.

Bowling makes a big hit in the second semester. The bowling alley, located in Lourdes Hall, receives a beating from the determined and hearty efforts of the girls. Not only is the art itself taught, but also the intricate details of keeping score.

In December, an all-school game found a Frosh-Senior team pitted against a Soph-Junior outfit. Kate Fitzgerald, Frances Metty, Renee Roscoe, Mary Blanchard, Polly Collins, Hildegard Keil, Justine Hill, Mary A. Jarzynski, Virginia Warnke and Pat Walsh are the "fighting" reasons why the Frosh-Senior team went down to heart-breaking defeat—the score being 22-20. Jeanne Manley and Jane Stallkamp captained the F-S's.

The Movie Projector

was a helpful educational device in the classroom during the past year. The weekly Monday movies were also a source of enjoyment. Threading the movie machine are Justine Hill, Mary Wilhelm, and Ruth Hart.

The Art Classes

have completed a successful year under the supervision of Miss Leona Pauken. Two students of the fourth year class received laurels for their posters in a city-wide contest. Shown here at work are Carol Suder, Patricia Swindeman and Carol Hawkins.

Dorothy Helfrich, Moira Hurley, Justine Hill, Mary Blanchard, Nancy Bodette, Margot Boaden, Ruth Hart, Mary Ann Kiefer; seated: Mary Lou Comes, Sue Brunner, Joan Kaszynski, Anne Michaelson.

The Legion of Mary

increased not only its membership this year, but also expanded its activities to include St. Anthony's Orphanage, Crippled Children's Home, Little Sisters of the Poor, Catholic Club, and several hospitals.

American History

is exclusively a senior study. Some of the students entered the contest conducted by the American Legion to develop the subject, "The American Way—How We May Improve It." Those who submitted essays are pictured above, standing, Barbara Schaedel, Mary Ann Graham, seated, Betty Beins, Caroline Husted, Theresa Makley, Corrine Hoffman, Patricia Swindeman, kneeling, Nora Sheehan and Connie Pohl.

The Movie Schedule

this year was an interesting and a complete one. The movies were usually shown after school hours but a few were presented to the entire student body at assemblies. In the picture, Barbara Robakowski, Donna Bennett, and Doris Harchuck are looking over the posters which advertise the movies.

'The Piper,'

the Senior Class play, was a dramatization of the myth material of the Pied Piper story, best known in its popular form through Browning's poem, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin."

Medieval settings, the Gregorian Chant, and the picturesque costumes, together with the appearance of a group of tiny tots, made this play unusually charming and attractive.

Art students and committee workers, as well as the cast, worked many weeks to bring about an artistic performance, finally achieved the nights of April 21 and 22, to the great satisfaction of all concerned.

The Spring Prom

was held April tenth in the beautiful ballroom of the Woman's Building. Hearts were gay and steps were light as the more than one hundred couples whirled through the dance numbers played by Al Jordan and his orchestra. Given traditionally by the Junior Class to fete the Seniors, the dance was the social affair par excellence of the year, the ninth in the history of the Academy, and the first to be held off the campus. Officers of the Junior Class, Hildegard Keil, Heather McAfee, Margaret Hancock, and Marilyn Smith, were in charge, and their parents were chaperons.

Dramatic Art

this year gave special attention to voice and diction. Several playlets, often original ones dealing with historical themes, were taken off on a wire recorder. Sound effects, together with background music, were used to give practice and experience in manipulating on cue the various devices used in radio work.

"Ursula of Brittany," depicting episodes from the life of the Ursuline Patroness, was presented in October. Members of the Club had prominent roles in the Christmas playlet, "The Road to Canterbury." "Mrs. Sydney Carton," a spring performance, merited full well the hearty approval given by the student audience.

Ancient History students, Eileen Collins, Joan Mink, Nancy Gall, and Charlotte Dimmer, show that X marks the spots in the ancient world which have occupied their time and efforts every day for forty-five minutes.

The Scroll

patron and advertising campaign held in September, financially gave the go-ahead signal to the Class of 1950 to make preparations for editing the thirtieth volume of the yearbook. First on the agenda was choosing a theme and designing the cover. The Holy Year generously lent itself appropriately to both.

Next, individual class pictures were dispatched by the Garrison Studio, Toledo, for the Seniors, and the Student Miniature Company, Grand Rapids, Michigan, for the Underclassmen. At the St. Ursula Day Breakfast, Colleen Bracken and Betty Sattler were named Co-editors, with the remaining staff positions posted simultaneously.

In December and January the make-up staff worked tirelessly, planning layouts and mounting pictures for the engraving discount deadline. By the middle of February practically all the pictures had been shot with the exception of those events which had not transpired.

Glorious Past —

Promising Future

Because tradition and progress live together in Toledo, the 1950 graduating class of St. Ursula Academy has reason to look backward with pride and forward with eagerness and hope.

As American cities go, Toledo has a truly significant history. Dating as it does from pioneer times, the city is full of landmarks which revive old memories and remind the present generation of a glorious past.

But there are many modern signs, too, in this bustling Ohio community and we feel we can say, with pardonable pride, that the Owens-Illinois Glass Company is one of them.

Owens-Illinois is equally proud of the fact that Toledo citizens continue to take an active part, as well as a personal interest in this enterprise, which has helped make Toledo the Glass Center of the world.

Many alumnae of St. Ursula Academy are included in our personnel and are doing much to help us solve our everyday problems.

To Mary Lee
A swell kid
Here's hoping she'll both manage to go to the Prom next year -- somehow!
Don't create too much of a mess on the boy across the street and his new car, with those spectacular shirts you got.
Loads of luck Honey)

K & a swell
Junior, lots of luck!
Lu Brunner

Dear Mary Lou,

Well'd kid another year is over and we're still going strong. We've had fun this year and I hope you have a wonderful Senior year. Don't go too crazy over art. Of course you're crazy over art anyway aren't you? Have fun this summer.

Be good

Sadie
